Statement of Objects and Reasons

Chapter IVA of the Rules for the Administration of Justice and Police in Nagaland, 1984 was inserted by the Third Amendment of the Rules and received the assent of the President of India on 14th March, 1982.

Chapter IVA provides for constitution of the Customary Courts in Nagaland with different levels of administration for the purpose of adjudicating disputes, both civil and criminal cases in accordance with the Naga customary laws and practice. However, it has not been notified till date and therefore, the provision could not be implemented. And in order to implement chapter IVA of the Rules, certain rules are required to be amended to meet the changing times. Therefore, a Committee was set up vide Order dated 22nd Feb, 2024 to examine the entire provisions of the Rules and accordingly, certain amendment of the provisions has been recommended. The recommendation of the Committee was forwarded to the Department of Law and Justice for vetting, wherein the department made further modifications. And while doing so, there are certain substantive amendments of the provision from the principle rules have been proposed, and since substantive amendment can be made only by the State legislature, the amendment Bill is necessitated in order to safeguard the separation of powers and to give supremacy to the amendment made thereunder.

Delegated Legislation Memorandum

The Rules for Administration of Justice and Police in Nagaland (Fifth Amendment) Bill, 2025 contain provisions that empowers the State Government to make rules for the effective implementation of the Rules. Delegated legislation is necessary to ensure flexibility in addressing procedural, and administrative aspect that may require periodic modification without the need for frequent legislative amendments.

The delegation of legislative powers under the Bill is limited to essential administrative and procedural matters ensuring smooth implementation of the Rules while maintaining legislative supervision.
