The innovation landscape emanating from the socio-cultural, geographical, economic, historical and political contexts shall be systematised, strategized and synergised to attain sustainable economic progress and global competitiveness. Technical Education efforts and interventions shall be aligned with policies of different sectors and themes, including education, skill development and industrial growth.

- The distinct roles of multiple stakeholders, including higher-education institutions, research and development organisations, funding agencies, regulatory bodies, non-governmental organizations and business enterprises in the innovation ecosystem, shall be recognised and their inter-linkages are to be strengthened at different levels.
- Industry – Academia linkages shall be deepened by joint programmes for both academic experts and young scholars with industry practitioners, to harness the expertise and get practical exposure. Such linkages at the undergraduate levels will further strengthen the foundation laid by the NEP 2020 to foster critical thinking and scientific temper. Provisions for extended sabbaticals in academia and industry shall be widely promoted to support knowledge and expertise exchange between industry and academia.

2.2. Mainstreaming Grassroots Innovations and Traditional Knowledge Systems:

- ✚ For integrating Traditional Knowledge Systems (TKS) and grassroots innovation into the overall education, research and innovation system, an institutional architecture shall be established in different technical and research institution campuses, to recognise and involve grassroots innovators, which in turn will inspire students to innovate. Avenues shall be initiated/facilitated through joint research projects, fellowships and scholarships.
- ✚ Assessment, testing and vetting of various kinds of traditional knowledge applicable in agriculture, biodiversity, healthcare, climate change and other locally relevant thematic areas, shall be encouraged.

2.3. Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) in Technical Education Research:

Intellectual property rights are indispensable in research and innovation. They are powerful tools for fostering innovation, incentivizing investment and ensuring that creators receive fair recognition and reward for their intellectual assets. While they play a crucial role in driving progress, it is equally important to strike a balance between protection and public interest to ensure that the benefits of innovation are accessible to all. In a rapidly evolving world, intellectual property rights remain a cornerstone of the knowledge economy, shaping the future of research and technological advancement.

- ✚ Intellectual property rights shall act as a powerful motivator for researchers and organizations to invest in pursuing new knowledge and technologies. Patents, copyrights, and trademarks shall provide legal protection to ensure that innovators can reap the benefits of their efforts without fear of immediate competition. This, in turn, shall promote the development of cutting-edge solutions and drive progress across various fields.
- ✚ IPR shall facilitate collaboration between academia and industry through mechanisms such as licensing agreements; researchers shall be able to transfer their innovations to businesses for further development and commercialisation.
- ✚ This flow of knowledge shall foster a dynamic exchange of ideas, resources, and expertise, ultimately accelerating the pace of innovation. Intellectual property rights shall empower individual researchers and entrepreneurs to start their ventures. By securing their ideas and inventions, they can enter the market with confidence, knowing that their innovations are protected from exploitation by larger entities. This shall not only spur entrepreneurship but also promote diversity and competition within industries.
- ✚ Without intellectual property protection, creators could easily fall victim to exploitation. Others could appropriate their ideas and innovations without their consent or proper compensation. IPR shall act as a shield, protecting creators from unfair practices and ensuring that they can continue to create and innovate.

However, intellectual property rights are not absolute. Mechanisms, such as patent expiration, shall be introduced that allow inventions to enter the public domain after a set period. Fair use provisions in copyright law, which enable limited use of copyrighted materials for purposes like education and research, shall achieve a balance between encouraging innovation and serving the public interest.

CHAPTER 3: TECHNOLOGY DEVELOPMENT AND INDIGENISATION OF RELEVANT SECTORS:

3.1. Strategic Technologies:

Acquiring technological capabilities is a dynamic process which is essential for the development of any society. The regional and global geopolitics along with the economic dynamics and fast-changing technologies trigger the concept of Strategic Technologies for a State. The expertise of academia and industry needs to be effectively utilized in the strategic sector, and an overarching body can play an important role in having better coordination in technology selection, development, utilization, commercialization and also establishing coordination with different stakeholders.

3.2. Partnership with HEIs and Private Sectors for Strategic Technology:

The strategic sectors shall be extended beyond the government departments to HEIs and private sectors to enhance innovation in the strategic sector.

✚ Indigenisation of Relevant Technical Education Sectors and Services at different levels:

- All commercial educational institutes offering or intending to offer Diploma courses or higher level of studies in allied and professional courses or their equivalent shall be affiliated to the technical education department.

These courses include certificate courses for vocational & skill-based (This affiliation does not appertain to the institutes recognized by the Department of Employment, Skill Development & Entrepreneurship /SCVT/NCVT)

CHAPTER 4: TECHNICAL EDUCATION POLICY GOVERNANCE

PRIORITY ISSUES:

The success of any policy depends on how it is implemented and governed. There is a critical need to build a robust Technical Education policy governance system with respect to evidence gathering through data and policy research, evidence-based policymaking, policy to programme translation and interconnection, implementation, monitoring, review/assessment, and feedback. Setting up an institutional mechanism for technical education policy research in different sectors and thereby strengthening the evidence-supported technical advice mechanism is one of the priorities.

BACKGROUND:

Technical Education Policy governance defines and guides the planning, implementation, monitoring and evaluation of TE-policies and programmes. The TE-Policy aims to develop and nurture an effective, transparent, responsible, accountable and self-reliant Technical Education ecosystem. Through consistent evaluation of the performance of various institutions, policies and programmes, ensuring the equitable representation of diverse groups and adequate feedback mechanism, the policy governance shall strengthen Technical Education policies and processes. Agile policy governance in place shall respond to emerging challenges at the state and national level. This Chapter outlines institutional mechanisms for Technical Education Policy Governance, implementing strategy and roadmap, monitoring and evaluation of the policy and program and their inter-linkages.

4.1. Capacity Development Programmes:

The TE-Policy shall also play a critical role in developing long-term capacity in technical education through training and fellowship programmes. The institutes shall work closely with the stakeholders, including academia, industries, autonomous and independent think-tanks and research and policy institutions in identifying gap areas and shall develop tailored capacity development programmes to build both institutional capacity as well as critical mass of policy professionals.

4.2. Formulating Implementation Strategy and Roadmaps:

An evidence-driven and decentralized approach shall be followed in translating policy objectives into actions through well-structured implementation strategies. The strategy shall include identification of priority areas, implementing agencies, stakeholders and planning the process of implementation. Stakeholders are key in formulating implementation strategies and roadmaps for programme design. The proposed Technical Education Policy shall work with, and provide necessary knowledge support to all the stakeholders and implementing agencies in developing feasible implementation roadmaps.

4.3. Monitoring and Evaluation of Technical Education Policies and Programmes

Mechanisms shall be put in place for continuous monitoring and timely evaluation of policy and programme implementation. These activities are critical in ensuring the policy objectives are being translated in the expected direction. Stakeholder feedback and adaptation mechanisms shall be incorporated to fine-tune the policy/programme implementation strategies. Appropriate exit strategies shall also be developed to remove policy instruments whenever necessary, based on the dynamic evaluation.

Chapter-5: IMPLEMENTATION FRAMEWORK

The implementation strategy shall be devised through a robust institutional mechanism. The implementing agencies shall be guided by this mechanism in the tasks of landscape analysis, institutional mapping, identifying stakeholders and resources. Coordinated actions across a range of actors with proactive leadership and a culture of collaboration across the Technical Education landscape shall be fostered.

Once the roadmap for the implementation is developed, the implementing agencies shall focus on capacity building. The Technical Education Policy shall provide knowledge support to different technical institutes and agencies, at the state level in the training of Technical Education workforce for implementation and monitoring. The policy and programme milestones shall be set up at the beginning of the implementation by the implementing agency with the guidance of the Technical Education Policy. From the beginning of the implementation and throughout the process, systemic communication to generate and share the information and feedback on the process of implementation shall be ensured.

The modifications and amendments of this policy shall be made from time to time as per need.

Chapter-6: QUALITY CONTROL, SERVICES & REVENUE

15) Reservation in Government Jobs and Age relaxation (for appearing NPSC/NSSB) for Diploma Graduates:

Earlier, a ratio of 60:40 (degree: diploma) was exercised, giving opportunities to diploma graduates, especially for job profiles associated with diploma level. However, this has been done away with. The department strongly opines for the restoration of the same reservation ratio for diploma graduates.

An eligibility criterion to appear in NPSC/NSSB is 21 years; this may be reduced to accommodate the diploma graduates who pass generally by the age of 19 years.

16) Autonomy for engagement of Temporary Faculty (Guest Lecturer) in Polytechnics/Institutes/Colleges where need arises:

Teaching faculty, in particular, are recruited through NPSC. However, delays in the recruitment process, backlog vacancies, and other non-appointment related issues often result in large teaching gaps due to the long duration of the appointment process. This adversely affects the academic system, which follows a semester pattern.

In view of the above, and in the interest of the academic progress of the students, the Department proposes to make provision for engagement of Temporary Faculty / Guest Lecturers on a fixed honorarium basis to meet such exigencies.

For this purpose, a dedicated fund shall be earmarked under this head for timely management of such cases. The engagement shall be made only after obtaining prior clearance from the P&AR Department and the Finance Department.

17) Establishment of Pharmacy Institute:

The evolving trends in the pharmaceutical sector and its services towards the health care system make it a dire need for the state of Nagaland to have its own Pharmacy Institute which shall facilitate all levels of education and meet the needs of the state and beyond. The Department of Technical Education shall strive towards establishing a Pharmacy Institute so that its vital role is harnessed for the people towards career prospects as well as ameliorate the health care system in this sector.

18) Establishment of Technical University:

The Department shall establish a Technical University which shall focus on applied learning, setting a technical university apart from other universities. It shall provide experiential learning, combining the in-depth study of practical, technology-based skills training. It shall facilitate courses that provide students with hands-on learning and educational experiences in addition to all the other foundations, which shall help them connect with potential employers.

The university shall remain committed to inclusive excellence. The meticulously designed Curriculum shall reach across disciplines, recognizing critical thinking, communication and arts to make a better, skilled employee.

The setting up of a Technical University in Nagaland shall bring about bridging the gap between Technical Education and skill-based needs in the state and beyond.

19) Establishment of Skill University:

The Department shall establish a Skill University which shall focus on academic, vocational, professional, technical, and life skill areas to allow skill inculcation and societal enrichment for its students through traditional and non-traditional Programs.

The Technology-enabled learning environment, industry as faculty, simulated virtual lab experience, trans-disciplinary choice-based learning, observer-ships and industry placements will all be significant differentiators of the Skill University education. Family Managed Businesses, Innovations in Tech & Policy, and Start-ups will all be covered under Ventures, Innovations, and Enterprises. The Skill University will provide students, alumni, and the local community with the skills they need to compete in the new Digital World.

20) Establishment of Drone school:

The Department of Technical Education, under the approval of the Directorate General of Civil Aviation (DGCA) shall establish drone school which shall provide various training modules and methods of application of drone technology with a vision to become a "global drone hub" by the year 2030.

21) FUTURE TASKS:

All the programmes mentioned in this policy and those not mentioned but coming under the purview of Technical Education Programmes shall be covered by this Policy.

Many Govt. Departments/Government institutes/private institutes are imparting technical (education) programmes. However, with the approval & implementation of the Nagaland Technical Education Policy, all this shall be streamlined and henceforth the Technical Education Department of Nagaland shall be the nodal department for all technical-related programmes in the state, which shall help in fostering co-ordination amongst different departments/institutes and take the state to greater heights in the socio-economic sector.

"On the Protected Area Permit (PAP) regime in Nagaland

WHEREAS, Nagaland is today a peaceful State and has emerged as an increasingly important destination for tourism, culture, investment, entrepreneurship and international engagement;

AND WHEREAS, tourism and the service and creative sectors have become important generators of employment and livelihood, particularly for the youth of the State;

AND WHEREAS, the Hornbill Festival, the 'Land of Festivals' initiative and other tourism and cultural programmes have contributed significantly towards projecting India's cultural diversity nationally and internationally and have created substantial economic opportunities for local communities and entrepreneurs;

AND WHEREAS, the continuation of the Protected Area Permit (PAP) regime has created impediments to the growth of international tourism, investment, business engagement, cultural exchange and international partnerships in Nagaland;

AND WHEREAS, the Government of Nagaland remains fully committed to ensuring national security and maintaining appropriate systems for registration, regulation and monitoring of foreign nationals through modern technology and close coordination with the Government of India and its agencies;

AND WHEREAS, the State Government, civil society organisations, tribal bodies, tourism stakeholders, entrepreneurs and other sections of Naga society have repeatedly expressed their desire for the withdrawal/relaxation of the PAP regime;

NOW, THEREFORE, this August House unanimously resolves to appeal to the Government of India to urgently review and withdraw the Protected Area Permit regime presently applicable to the State of Nagaland and restore the relaxation that had earlier been in operation.

The House further appeals to the Government of India to take into consideration the prevailing peaceful environment in Nagaland, the developmental aspirations of its people, the importance of tourism and investment to the State's economy, and the aspirations of Naga youth for greater opportunities and participation in India's growth story.

The House affirms that the Government and the people of Nagaland remain committed to national security, peace and stability, and assures the Government of India of the State's fullest cooperation in putting in place appropriate technology-driven and institutional mechanisms for the registration and monitoring of foreign nationals visiting Nagaland.

The House is of the considered view that regulatory arrangements which have outlived their developmental relevance should not become barriers to economic opportunity, employment generation and Nagaland's fuller participation in the national and global economy.
